

Accessibility Statement

Effective Date: September 18, 2026

At Brainstorm Speech Therapy, inclusion is part of how we care for our community. We want our website to be welcoming and accessible to as many people as possible, including people with disabilities.

We work to improve the accessibility and usability of our website using recognized accessibility practices and guidance.

Our efforts may include:

- Clear headings and easy-to-read content
- Appropriate text and background contrast
- Alternative text for meaningful images
- Keyboard-friendly navigation when possible
- Accessible links and buttons
- Mobile-friendly design
- Captions or alternative formats for multimedia when appropriate

Accessibility is an ongoing process, and we recognize that barriers may still occur.

Need Help Accessing Something?

If you experience difficulty using our website or accessing any information, please let us know.

We will make reasonable efforts to provide the information you need in an accessible alternative format.
